

Five Year Extended Warranty on Products

Conditions and Limitations

ewo offers Buyers who purchase products from it a warranty against defects in manufacturing and/or design for the duration of twenty-four months in accordance with that which is established in the ewo General Terms and Conditions of Sale that are published on the website www.ewo.com. During the warranty period, the purchaser may present a claim to ewo by presenting the purchase invoice and the certification that attests to the installation of the Product which is issued by the installer in conformance with the regulations that are in force.

Thanks to the high quality of its products, ewo is able to offer its actual end users the possibility of the extension of the period of validity of the aforementioned warranty to FIVE YEARS from the invoice date.

This service is provided at no additional cost. In order to request the extended warranty, it is necessary to fill out this five year extended warranty form within three months of the issue date of the sales invoice. When this form has been completely filled out in every part, the warranty that is available in the ewo General Terms and Conditions of Sale, which are hereby accepted in full along with this, is extended to a period of five years starting from the issue date of the sales invoice.

The acceptance of the request for acceptance is subject to the correct and total completion in all of its parts of this form for the extension of the warranty to five years on the part of the Buyer, after which ewo shall assign an identification code to the warranty extension and shall communicate it to the Buyer.
